The Total Expense Ratio (TER) is disclosed as the percentage of the average NET Asset Value of the portfolio that was incurred as charges, levies and fees related to the management of the portfolio and underlying portfolios. The TER is calculated quarterly. A higher TER ratio does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER cannot be regarded as an induction of future TER's. Individual investor returns may differ as a result of fees, actual date(s) of investment, date (s) of reinvestment or income and withholding tax. Annualized returns, also known as Compound Annualized Growth Rates, are calculated from cumulative returns; they provide an indication of the average annual return achieved from an investment that was held for the stated time period. Actual annual figures are available from the Manager on request. Performance figures quoted are from Morningstar, for a lump sum investment, using NAV-NAV prices with income distributions reinvested. The performance is calculated for the portfolio and individual performance may differ. Fund Manager Commentary

The Cinnabar Global Equity Fof returned -7.68 while the benchmark MSCI ACWI NR returned -7.18 in the month in March.

South African Drivers

The South African market faced a sharp reversal in March, as the optimism from February's constructive National Budget was overshadowed by a "perfect storm" of geopolitical conflict and surging energy costs. After hitting record highs in February, the FTSE/JSE All Share Index (ALSI) experienced a volatile month, at one point falling over 14% to 110,070 points before staging a partial recovery to end the quarter at 114,067 points.

February's headline CPI (reported in March) remained stable at 3.0%, hitting the South African Reserve Bank's (SARB) target precisely. However, the SARB warned that the Middle East conflict could push inflation toward 4% in the near term.

Monetary Policy: The Repo rate was held steady at 6.75%. While previous sentiment pointed toward a cutting cycle, the SARB adopted a more cautious tone, noting that several interest rate hikes might be necessary if oil prices remain above $100 per barrel.

Currency: The Rand faced renewed pressure as global "risk-off" sentiment took hold, with the SARB modelling scenarios where the currency could weaken by as much as 10% due to prolonged global instability

Global Drivers

March was characterized by a sharp deterioration in global sentiment as the escalation of conflict in the Middle East disrupted energy supplies and upended the "soft landing" narrative.

Energy and Inflation Shock: Oil prices surged more than 60%, with Brent crude topping $100 a barrel for the first time since 2022. This triggered a hawkish repricing of interest rate expectations globally as inflation fears resurfaced.

Equity Market Declines: Global equities fell sharply, with Europe and Asia leading the decline. US markets showed relative resilience but still ended in the red; the Nasdaq fell 5.2% as rising bond yields and soft economic data pressured high-valuation technology stocks.

Safe-Haven Rotation: The U.S. Dollar Index strengthened on safe-haven demand. Surprisingly, Gold reversed its February gains, posting its worst monthly performance since 2008 as the prospect of higher-for-longer interest rates increased the opportunity cost of holding non-yielding assets.
